

SARRAH

Services for Australian
Rural and Remote Allied Health

CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP

Services for Australian Rural and Remote Allied Health (SARRAH) is focused on improving health outcomes of people who live in rural and remote Australia. SARRAH communicates, collaborates and builds community around addressing significant rural health issues as a result of workforce challenges, lack of access and poor recognition of the support provided by allied health professionals.

You can join SARRAH's community through our corporate membership program where you can collaborate with a range of like minded organisations to improve access to high quality preventative healthcare across rural and remote Australia.

SARRAH's corporate membership delivers a range of services and benefits to members including but not limited to:

- Lobbying federal and state politicians on behalf of our members' interests
- Invitations to consult and/or collaborate on aspects of SARRAH's advocacy and policy initiatives
- Participation in SARRAH workshops on major policy and program initiatives
- Engaging with rural workforce agencies, primary health networks, academics, universities and service providers
- Opportunity to join the Board of Directors or the advisory committee
- Invitations to contribute and participate in SARRAH AGMs, conferences, projects, programs and events
- Opportunity to network, share information and design solutions through SARRAH programs
- First right of refusal to sponsor and/or participate in the SARRAH conference, activities and projects
- Acknowledgment for your contribution on SARRAH's website, publications and social media platforms
- Opportunity for an advertisement (320 pixels (w) x 450 pixels (h)) to advertise your organisation on the SARRAH homepage
- Opportunity to contribute content to SARRAH's communication activities and publications
- Subscription to SARRAH publications, information and communication for distribution to staff
- Unlimited relevant content sharing on social media platforms
- Job advertising on the SARRAH website with promotion on social media
- Conference and event promotion on the SARRAH website and through social media
- Discounted access to other advertising opportunities through SARRAH
- Discounted event delegate registration fees for your organisation and employees
